

CASE MANAGEMENT

*Recovering from addiction is only one of the challenges women seeking treatment at Meta House may experience. Poverty, poor physical and mental health, past and current domestic violence, inadequate affordable housing and insufficient income and employment opportunities, and parenting skills add to the complexity of daily life and success in recovery. Our case managers help families identify community resources to address these concerns.

goals

MOST WOMEN WE SERVE

are involved in several outside systems such as child welfare, W-2 (Wisconsin's TANF program) and criminal justice. While facing these complicated realities, most women enter treatment without a support network. Meta House case managers seek to help women navigate these complex systems and by helping her to:

build a network of family, friends, spiritual and professional support, which increases her ability to cope after leaving treatment.

increase her engagement in the program, which will increase her ability to maintain sobriety.

coordinate her service plan.

connect her to outside resources.

service components

CASE MANAGER:

serves as the point person for all service coordination, problem solving, crisis intervention, retention and relapse prevention.

INTENSIVE CASE MANAGEMENT:

helps women prioritize their needs and access to resources such as housing and medical services.

COORDINATED CARE:

Coordinates care between various systems so that helpers are working together on the family's behalf.

SINGLE PLAN OF CARE:

streamlines information so it is accessible and easy for clients and their support systems to understand.

